Welcome to Coronado

A mere two-mile drive from cosmopolitan, downtown San Diego, across one of the world’s most distinctive bridges, is Coronado Island – a world away. A town rich in history, blessed with one of the finest beaches in the world and bathed in endless sunshine, Coronado is a vibrant beach community loaded with charm. What can you expect to find when you visit Coronado?

CORONADO IS QUINTESSENTIAL “SMALL-TOWN AMERICA”
With a one-mile-long main street, Orange Avenue, Coronado is a quaint all-American village of 30,000 residents, complete with mom-and-pop shops, parades and picnics in the park. Explore its friendly neighborhoods with quiet tree-lined streets and alleys and you’ll discover an eclectic mix of architectural styles, from historically preserved Victorians and Craftsman-style bungalows to Spanish villas and cozy beach cottages.

CORONADO IS A WORLD-CLASS RESORT DESTINATION
More than 2 million visitors come to Coronado annually, catered to by 17 hotels, including three world-class resorts, and over 70 restaurants. Boutiques, art galleries, day spas, yacht marinas, a stunning 18-hole golf course and endless recreational opportunities complete the resort lifestyle. From local day trippers to international tourists, people of all ages are drawn to Coronado to enjoy all that it has to offer.

CORONADO IS HOME TO A NATIONAL TREASURY
The crowning glory of the island is the Hotel del Coronado, the Victorian masterpiece that is one of the few beachfront hotels in San Diego. The Del, as the legendary resort is affectionately known, is a National Historic Landmark and is as impressive now as when the seaside resort was built in 1888. Coronado is a town that celebrates its rich heritage and preserves its unique historical culture.

CORONADO IS A RELAXED SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA BEACH TOWN
Coronado’s flat white sand beach has family-friendly surf and postcard sunsets, framed by the picturesque silhouette of the Point Loma headland. Coronado is consistently rated one of the best beaches in the world. And if the renowned beaches aren’t enough, there is also a bayside district with breathtaking views of the San Diego skyline and the bustling activity on the “Big Bay.”

CORONADO IS A NAVY TOWN
The U.S. military has been a presence in Coronado since 1911 when the Navy first came here. The Navy established Naval Air Station North Island, which today occupies the entire north half of Coronado and is home port to three aircraft carriers. At the southern end of town, the Naval Amphibious Base is home to the elite fighting group, the Navy SEALs, and Navy housing communities populate the peninsula.

CORONADO HAS SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE
Because of its proximity to San Diego’s nightlife and world-famous attractions, Coronado is an ideal jumping-off place for the perfect Southern California vacation. Whether it’s the setting for a fairytale wedding, a memorable family holiday or a season in the sun, discover for yourself why Coronado is known as “The Enchanted Isle.”

Coronado is also known as the Crown City, named after the Las Islas Coronadas (the crowned islands), about 15 miles off shore.
A Town Steeped in History

Once a flat, treeless landmass in the middle of the bay separating San Diego from the Pacific Ocean, Coronado attracted indigenous people gathering food sources, fishing, and hunting jackrabbits and quail. But things changed in 1886 when visionary investors from the Midwest saw the potential of this scrubby “island.” Elisha Babcock and Hampton Story began building a seaside resort community. Their syndicate, the Coronado Beach Company, held a land auction and eventually amassed a huge profit, which would be used to build a dream resort they hoped would be the “talk of the Western world.”

After the fast-track construction project was completed in just over a year, the first official guests were received in 1888. Built entirely of wood and completed at a cost of $1 million, the Hotel del Coronado is one of the last remaining Victorian seaside resorts, designed in the Queen Anne Revival style, with its whimsical turrets and asymmetrical design.

Coronado is also nicknamed The Emerald City because L. Frank Baum, the author of "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz," found inspiration in the fairyland-like surroundings of Coronado, which is evident in the subsequent Oz books he penned while wintering here.

When the economy took a downturn right after the hotel opened, sugar magnate John D. Spreckels bought out the original investors to become sole proprietor by 1892. He built a grand mansion across the street on Glorietta Boulevard and established an alternative resort called Tent City down the Strand.

Tent City appealed to America’s emerging middle class who couldn’t afford to stay at the hotel. Vacationers flocked to the make-shift city of hundreds of tents where they could enjoy bathing facilities, sailing and aquaplaning, carnival booths, a Ferris wheel and a dance pavilion. Unlike the hotel’s “season,” which attracted visitors from cold climates in the winter, Tent City drew a summer crowd from hot inland California and Arizona – a pattern that is still in evidence today. Tent City flourished until 1939.

Spreckles sold “North Island” to the U.S. government in 1917, and since then the U.S. Army, Marines, and now the Navy have made it home. North Island was the site for the first seaplane flight, the first mid-air refueling and the first non-stop transcontinental flight. Charles Lindbergh flew from North Island on the first leg of his celebrated New York to Paris flight in 1927.

The relaxed Coronado way of life changed forever in 1969 when the bridge to San Diego opened and replaced the automobile ferries – despite protests from many residents. Coronado’s first traffic signals were installed in order to cope with the influx of thousands of vehicles per day.

The island’s population fluctuates between 22-30,000 residents depending on the season. But, since Coronado’s inception the community has had a careful approach to planned development, assuring that the quality of both the residential lifestyle and the business community remains vibrant today.

Recreation

• BEACHES
The Pacific Ocean meets the Coronado peninsula along a wide, flat beach with gentle, inviting surf. Consistently rated as one of the best beaches in the world for families, the beach is also one of the most romantic and is the number-one wedding destination in America. Nearly 3 million people enjoy Coronado’s beaches every year. In the early morning you may see Navy SEALs working out and in the evening watch spectacular sunsets as sailboats return and cruise ships depart San Diego Bay.

Coronado Beach
The main two-mile beach has four sections. At the foot of the Coronado Shores condominium towers is South Beach where the hull of the sunken gambling ship, the Monte Carlo, can be seen at low tide. The section starting at the Hotel del Coronado past the life guard tower is Central Beach overlooked by the stately homes along Ocean Boulevard. North Beach attracts surfers in the morning, and fire rings are available for bonfires at night. At the far north is Dog Beach where canines can play leash-free. Lifeguards are on duty year round from 9am until dusk; volleyball nets, restrooms and showers are available. Beach wheelchairs are free to the public.

Coronado Ferry Landing
A little sandy beach and lawn overlook San Diego Bay adjacent to the fishing/ferry pier with sweeping views of downtown San Diego and the bustling waterfront. Restrooms and free parking available.

Silver Strand State Beach
4.5 miles south of Coronado, this beach has fire rings, lifeguards, restrooms and showers. This is one of the best kiteboarding areas in Southern California, both on the relatively calm bay waters and in the ocean surf. An underpass allows access to the bayside beach and picnic area as well as to Loews Coronado Bay Resort. South of the developed area, there are 3.5 miles of ocean and natural preserve.

No kites are allowed on Central Beach because it is under the flight path of the Naval Air Station. Alcoholic beverages, smoking and glass containers are prohibited on any city beach or park in Coronado.

Getting Around

The drive from the San Diego International Airport at Lindbergh Field is less than 10 miles and takes 15 to 20 minutes; a cab ride will cost approximately $30. Once here, you’ll find that one of Coronado’s most charming features is how unnecessary a car is – the island is flat and a little over a mile across. Coronado earns a Walk Score™ of 98 out of 100 – a “Walker’s Paradise”, where most errands can be accomplished on foot and many people get by without owning a car. You might consider renting a bike or surrey to better explore the neighborhoods, and bikes are permitted on the pedestrian ferry that takes you over to San Diego’s waterfront.

• CROSSING THE BAY

The Coronado/San Diego Ferry shuttles passengers between the Broadway Pier in downtown San Diego and the Coronado Ferry Landing. The ferry leaves San Diego on the hour from 9am to 9pm, and from Coronado every hour on the half hour from 9:30am until 9:30pm (10:30pm on weekends). Tickets may be purchased at either end.
